DAWSON'S BATTLE WON.

The Democratic side was apparently tickled to death, when three or four hundred people turned out to hear

Cornwell speak, but a tired feeling came over that crowd, when from fifteen hundred to two thousand people turned out to hear Dawson. That is a contrast that shows which way the cat hops. You may well count on the people being with Dawson for he is the people's candidate and no one knows it any better than the Democratic politicians. The cause he is fighting so nobly and which he has been fighting all along is the people's and in their best interest and none know it any better than the people themselves. They know him to be their friend and they know the cause as is pushing forward to be for their good. Any one who had the slightest doubt about it before Thursday night had that doubt removed by his visit here.

Dawson made a plain, practical, able presentation of the great good the new tax laws will do the people. He showed himself familiar with every part of this law and the pointed out everything so plainly that none need misunderstand. He answered every question put to him with perfect satisfaction to all. He exposed the hypocritical course of the Democratic nominee for governor and the double dealing of that individual on the tax reform question. He bravely uttered his sentiments on this great question and told where he stands. He let his audience know that he, Mr. Dawson, had nothing to take back, nothing to retract and that he had not changed his attitude in any particular on tax reform. He let it be known that he stands today where he did when he received the nomination. Outspoken in every particular and with no hesitancy in any particular, he called a spade a spade and made the new laws on taxation so plain that every one understands them now and knows them to be correct, fair, right and just, and in the interests of the whole people. And that is all the people want. Satisfied that such was true they came and heard Dawson, they are now convinced, and the little in this county so far as Dawson is concerned is already won.

ELKINS RIGHT AT IT.

The Democratic politicians around here and especially the Democratic clique consoling themselves in the thought that Senator Elkins would take no part in the present campaign, but they got satisfied on that point. Thursday night, when Mr. Elkins briefly addressed our people in a strong and emphatic endorsement of the candidacy of Mr. Dawson for governor, and denounced the Democratic party and its changing about from one thing to another every change of the moon, Elkins is for Roosevelt, Fairbanks, Dawson and the whole Republican ticket with all his heart, and he boldly told his auditors to beware of the attempt to allure them into a change. No one who heard him will now say that he is not doing yeoman service for his party and ticket. Uncle Steve can always be depended on to do the right thing at the right time, and the Republican party in West Virginia place a faith in him that he holds sacred. He has never yet failed us and there is no ground to believe that he ever will, notwithstanding the fact that the Democratic party may nominate all his relatives in the hope of inducing him to "lay down."

PROTECTING PEOPLE'S INTERESTS.

Elkins struck the keynote, when he pointed out the fact that the protection tariff had made West Virginia the grand state it is and Dawson touched a similar key, when he argued that the new tax laws and tax reform, of which the new laws are the beginning, mean just and equal taxation and a relief to the people so far as taxation is concerned. It is, indeed, a happy condition that the Republican party is so earnestly engaged in building up the state, protecting its natural wealth and resources, encouraging its industries, and at the same time working with might and gain not only to equalize taxation but to relieve the people of as much of the burden of taxation as possible. In other words the Republican party is helping to make wealth for the people and is making such laws as will enable them to keep their earnings and possessions without having to pay them out in taxes to run the government. What more is needed to recommend that party and its candidates to the people? And remember they are doing these things now and are not merely promising to do something as the Democrats are promising.

PARKER AND THE TARIFF.

Judge Parker has evidently been coached somewhat upon a subject of which he apparently knew but little when he accepted the nomination for the Presidency. In treating of the tariff question he says: "Furthermore, when our manufacturers are dependent on raw materials in whole or in part imported, it is vital to the extension of their markets abroad that they secure their materials on the most favorable terms." If Judge Parker was familiar with the rebate clause of the Dingley tariff, or with the rebate clause of the McKinley tariff, or with the same identical clause in the Wilson-Gorman tariff he would know that there is already provision for a rebate of 90 per cent upon all imports used in the manufacture of products for export. What more favorable terms would Judge Parker ask than that? It simply proves that the Judge does not know what he is talking about, and that his knowledge of the whole tariff question and its hand-made reciprocity is but superficial.

IN THE THIRD.

The Congressional difficulty in the Third district has been settled. W. S. Edwards has accepted the decree of the National Committee leaving Joseph H. Gaines the only Republican candidate in the field. The committee after hearing both sides of the case decided that Mr. Gaines was the legal and regular nominee and Mr. Edwards gracefully accepted the result, proving himself the right kind of Republican. A big Republican victory in the Third district is now assured. Mr. Gaines earned the district by over 4,000 in the last two campaigns and he will repeat the performance again this time. Mr. Gaines is one of the ablest and brainiest Congressmen in the West Virginia delegation and he deserves reelection at the hands of his constituents. They ought to increase his majority.

THE UNITED WOOLEN MILLS CO.—TAILORS TO THE MASSES.

—WE BOW—

To the sweet dressers of Clarksburg and its tributary trade and are pleased to announce that we have leased the furthest store room in the Waldo block, on Fourth street, where on we shall open one of our famous merchant tailoring establishments, with a full car load of the very newest Swagger Woollens, the latest shadings and designs from the most ingenious mills on the two continents, from which we shall make to your order, to your particular taste and fancy any Suit or any Overcoat at the uniform price of $15. "No more, no less." We employ no other than Union Tailors and absolutely guarantee satisfactory fit and workmanship.

We are not entire strangers in your midst, we have one of our establishments in your neighboring city of Parkersburg for the past three years, where we have established a reputation for producing to other high-class, stylish men's garments at the nominal price of $15, and we have many satisfied customers in this city to substantiate the fact.

It may seem that we are located a little out of the way, but it was the best we could get for the present. We shall make up for it, however, by giving extraordinary values and by persistent and judicious advertising induce the trade to come that much out of the way, and thereby help to make the Waldo the center of attraction.

Hoping to become one of your city's most substantial business houses and to secure your encouragement at our opening SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8. We are yours to please.

THE UNITED WOOLEN MILLS CO.—TAILORS TO THE MASSES.

ENTER GORMAN.

Thus far the management of the Democratic campaign has been an obvious bungle, due, paradoxically to a combination of inaptness with over sharp methods. Taggart has apparently not known what to do and Hill has known a little too well. Now they have imported Gorman, a man whose methods are quite so well known as those of Hill, and whose ability in the first Cleveland campaign was conceded. Gorman is shrewd, but the trouble with him is much the same as the trouble with Hill—he is too shrewd, too much in love with the subtleties of diplomatic politics to see that there are times when a short straight road is better than a labyrinth. If a man wants to get anywhere without being seen, a winding road is very convenient, but if he wants merely to get there, we have geometrical proof of the fact that heading to that cartoon was, "The Country's Safe."

"And on the cur was the face of the President of the United States."

"The Post unhesitatingly pronounced that dog cartoon an insult to the American people."

"It isn't a matter of Roosevelt at all. He is human, and has his good points and his bad ones. He fills, however, a position that belongs to the people. He occupies a place that is the summit of honor and dignity in this country. He is entitled to respect. The President, whether his name is Roosevelt, Parker or Cleveland, is a part of the best part of American life, and the man who attempts to drag the dignity of that high office in the dirt, who insults and President, insults Americans, be they Republicans, Democrats, Socialists, or members of any other political party."

"The Roosevelt dog cartoon is unwise, un-American, untrue. There is no demand in these United States for that kind of campaigning."

John Sharp Williams, who was elected to Congress by 1,400 votes, out of 190,000 population in the Yazoo, Mississippi district, believes the Filipinos ought to have a right to vote and yet thousands of voters in his own district are disfranchised. Don't you think that Mr. Williams' boundless charity ought to begin at home?

Elkins loves to make a speech in Clarksburg and he invests his money here, too. Gladys Davis writes that he hates Clarksburg and will not invest his money here. That is only one little thing that shows what a difference there is in the two men so far as West Virginia and her people are concerned.

It was a tremendous reception Mr. Dawson received. Wonder why the Democratic clique was not tickled like they were when Cornwell was given a little reception.

Judge Parker declares he believes in free trade for raw materials. West Virginia coal and lumber are raw materials under the Democratic definition. Are you in favor of that policy?

David B. Hill has not been in West Virginia for a dozen years and he met a frost the only time he did appear. History will repeat itself when he comes again.
